Fully aware of this world's yearning and aspirations for a hopeful future, believers remain cautious, for our hearts pound with eager expectation of the soon coming of our Lord from heaven. Our hope lies not in what man has in store for himself, but rather, in what our Lord Jesus Christ has marked out for His bride. The Christian races not in lock step with the world, running in the same direction with the same purpose, desire, and longing. We look up to heaven, awaiting our Lord, firstly in His coming for the church, but also eagerly anticipating the day when the King in all His glory shall stand upon that Jerusalem mount. Upon His thigh a name will be written, "King of Kings, and Lord of Lords". Near to His side will be the holy armies of heaven following Him upon white horses, clothed in fine linen, white and clean. Then, that innumerable host of blood bought saints of the Lord will be gathered with Him to reign as kings and priests forever. There in the midst stands the Lamb, slain from before the foundation of the world, yet crowned in brightest glory, and "everyone in the temple speaks of His glory." Expectantly, we look for the inauguration of the age of ages, with the saints of all ages who love Him. Where "at the name of Jesus every knee should bow, of things in heaven, and things in the earth, and things under the earth; and that every tongue should confess that Jesus Christ is Lord, to the glory of the Father."
